

PROVIDENCE HIGH SCHOOL located on highway 30 near Gouger road, a co-educational Catholic school, opened for classes Monday. Registration at the new $816,000 school was held early last week. Followed by a two-day workshop for teachers. Enrolled at the school are 340 boys and girls, 22 of which are from New Lenox, Mokena, Frankfort and surrounding area and the remainder from Joliet and Lockport.

New Lenox Buys Radar To Better Control Traffic

The New Lenox village board would have motorists know that its police department has added greatly to the length of its arm.

New Lenox squads no longer have to follow and clock drivers they suspect of traveling too fast. The department now has a radar that will give them the speed of cars going, coming or traveling at right angles. The device is easily transferable from car to car and it also can be used by mounting it on a tripod alongside the road.

At the meeting of the board last week it was voted to buy the radar equipment to aid police in controlling traffic. The department had been trying out a unit for nine days and in that time 60 motorists were found to be traveling too fast, some of them doing 60 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

Speeding at New Lenox is not restricted to U. S. 30 by any means, it was pointed out. Police get complaints concerning fast driving and racing in residential areas.

Sidney Westby, district superintendent of the Public Service Co., told the board his company was ready at all times to aid any move to bring suitable industry to the community. The New Lenox Association of Commerce and the village board have been conducting a campaign to bring industry to the several person living in the subdivision opened east of New Lenox in the vicinity of the octagonal barn by Anthony Padzuikas, appeared before the village board to complain that the confusion over proposed annexation to New Lenox has resulted in deterioration of the roads.

About a year ago Padzuikas and lot and house owners in the subdivision were informed that the village was prepared to annex them providing sewer connections were made and other requirements met. As far as could be determined at last week's meeting these conditions have not been met and therefore the area is still outside the village.

The delegation was promised that an agreement would be worked out with township authorities for sharing maintenance expenses until annexation details were worked out. Some profess to see no problem, contending that until the territory in question is annexed to the village the maintenance of roads is up to the township.

Trustee Evan Drotts and Village Treasurer James Hearn were authorized by the board to invest reserve funds from sewer department operations in suitable government securities.

Knights-Lemont In Grid Opener

Coach Jonas Lashmet's Lincoln-Way Knights take to the gridiron Saturday afternoon against Lemont in the season opener.

Lashmet will unveil a comparatively new looking team as the Knights take the field. Kurt Fredin, who operated at an end position last season with the exception of the final game in which he handled the quarterback slot, will direct the Knights' T-formation attack. Remainder of the backfield will receive their varsity baptism Saturday.

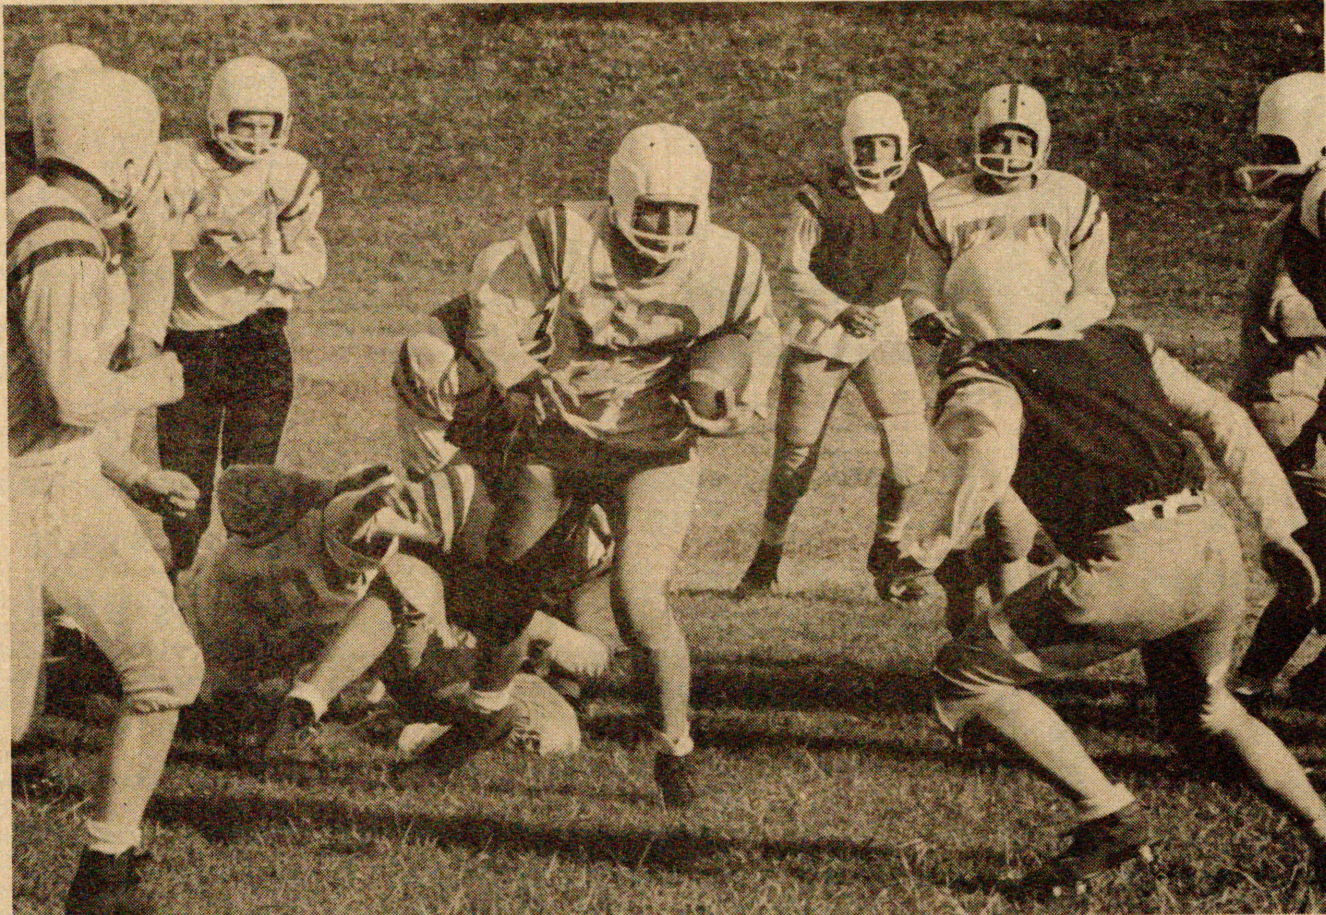

Early injuries which cropped up in practice sessions may clear up before Saturday's kickoff. VanDeLay, junior halfback, is still on the questionable list. Dale Manecke, an-

Frosh-soph game will get underway at noon, followed by the varsity contest at 3 p.m.

LINCOLN-WAY'S FIRST FOE--Halfback Tom O'Sullivan heads for a hole in the line as Lemont High School varsity gridders ran through heavy scrimmage in prepping for clash with Lincoln-Way's Knights Saturday afternoon. The game, scheduled

New Lenox Man Injured When Car Hits Pole

Swerving to avoid a car with bright lights that cut in front of him, James Carnahan, 22, of 519 Root st., New Lenox, lost control of his automobile and the vehicle struck a telephone pole. Carnahan suffered head and neck injuries and lacerations to the head, throat and legs. He was in Silver Cross hospital but has been released.

The accident occurred early Wednesday of last week on U.S. 6 at the Rockdale curve. Carnahan was alone in his car and heading west. He told state troopers that an eastbound auto with bright lights made a turn in front of him.

In avoiding a collision with the car Carnahan lost control of his vehicle, he was quoted as saying in the report. The other car, he said, did not stop after he had crashed.

A PARKING PROBLEM

A request has been made of the Mokena village board to ban parking for several car lengths north on 195th st. on the west side of Wolf road, as a safety measure. Drivers eastbound on 195th street cannot see southbound traffic approaching when cars are parked up to the corners as they are now, it was said.

Expect Large Vote In Arbury Bond Election

A large vote is expected to be cast in the Summit Hill school district, No. 161, this Saturday when the citizens there decide whether the board will have the funds to build an addition to the school.

The board is seeking approval of a $115,000 bond issue to provide four additional classrooms, a multi-purpose room, washrooms, kitchen and storage facilities.

The school in Arbury Hills subdivision will serve as the polling place for the district. The poll will open at 12 noon, Sept. 15, and close at 7 p.m.

Persons do not have to be registered to vote in a school election, they are subject the legal requirements for a voter, however, and will be asked to sign an affidavit that they are entitled to vote. One must be a citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or over, a resident of Illinois for a year, of the county for 90 days and the voting district 30 days.

It is expected there will be a heavy vote Saturday, according to observers, because there appears to be considerable interest in the situation. Proponents of the bond issue have discussed the subject with parents, teachers and any other organization they could reach.

Considerable publicity has been given to the proposal and Monday night there was a mass meeting at the school, arranged by Supt. James Wrath to which the public was invited and urged to ask questions concerning the district's need and its proposal to enlarge the present school.

There has been some reportedly organized opposition to the bond issue so between the two elements sufficient interest should be developed and thus assure a good vote on Saturday.

Those in charge of the election are hopeful that regardless of the outcome the vote will be representative and clear expression of the thinking of the people of the district.

According to a board spokesman the rapid growth of population in the district is the past two years has taxed the present building--which is a new structure -- beyond its physical limits.

The board, recognizing its responsibility and desirous of getting the jump of the situation, hired William Scheidtmantel as the architect and instructed him to develop a plan to meet the needs.

The board has exerted considerable effort to supply the voters with complete information on the subject, it was pointed out. A spokesman says that the estimated cost to the taxpayer for this addition to the present school will be 30 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation. The average homeowner in the district will pay less than $2 a month more than his present tax bill if the issue is approved, the spokesman declared.

The present school was built by the developers of Arbury Hills. The original plans called for six rooms but the builders agreed to add two more rooms if the school district would contribute $25,000 to the overall cost. Bonds in that amount were voted.

Meat Prices Soar In Face Of N.F.O. Holding Action

Soaring meat prices at the neighborhood market greeted housewives completing their family shopping lists this week. Even higher price tags are expected over the week end.

Amid a series of charges and counter-charges between the National Farmers Organization and major meat packers as to the cause of the increase, housewives are bearing the brunt of the latest spurt in retail prices.

Kicking off the events leading to the upturn in meat prices was an all-out holding action instigated by the N.F.O. at a national meeting held the latter part of August in Des Moines, Iowa. Members voted Aug. 31 to withhold livestock from the market in an effort to force food processors to sign contracts with the N.F.O. which would guarantee minimum prices on major farm products.

Following the start of the withholding action, livestock receipts dipped as much as 40 per cent in many midwest markets. Major midwest yards reported receipts dropped off 15 per cent for beef cattle and 30 per cent for hogs.

In view of the increased livestock prices, receipts at the major midwest markets turn an upturn in mid-week, swelling stockyard counts to above year ago receipts. Apparently non-member farmers are finding the higher livestock prices to their liking and are moving their animals into the major markets.

N.F.O. officials, however, are predicting their membership will hold to the withholding agreement and not jump the gun to take advantage of the resulting price increase until the action is called off.

According to N.F.O. officials, the current holding action is being aimed at local outlets for livestock and grain: livestock buying stations, auction sale barns and elevators, rather than the large terminal markets.

Officials claimed they found local outlets were very cooperative in reporting numbers of livestock handled and other information. In this current holding action, they stated that if the non-member farmers know that we will be having observers at the local outlets, farmers will be less likely to bring his livestock or grain to market.

Effectiveness of the holding action is regard to raising livestock prices, has been evidenced. Some observers feel, however, that retail meat prices will slump again as market receipts continue to climb and offset the temporary shortage.

N.F.O. President Oran Lee Staley has charged meat packers and chain stores with taking undue advantage of the consumer by increasing the retail price tags. The N.F.O. has charged collusion between food chains and at least one major packer and has asked for an investigation of price fixing by the justice department.

Locally, farmers belonging to the N.F.O. are meeting each Tuesday and Thursday to remain current on the holding action. An area meeting is being held 8 p.m. this Saturday at the Minooka high school and report the meeting will be open to the public.

A similar meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Homertown hall.

A meeting will be held this Thursday evening at the Louis Joliet Bank near the Merrycrest shopping center in Joliet.

Local N.F.O. officials report "Minute Men" of the local organizations are rapidly signing up remaining farmers into their movement. "Minute Men" have the organizational responsibility of quickly notifying members of impending holding actions and also to notify members when the holding action is to cease, thereby giving the farmer a chance to "cash in" while the market price is up.

Plans Court Action To Force Sewer Connections

Mokena officials this week were in the process of getting warrants issued for Carl Rhein, Bryant road, and Henry Opitz, Parker ave., two residents who ignored requests that they connect their properties with the village sewer system.

At the meeting of the village board last week the trustees adopted a motion directing the mayor, Charles Swanberg, to start action against the two men.

According to the information made public at the meeting Rhein claims that when the sewer mains were installed his drain tile was damaged and he holds the village responsible. Ralph Yunker, village engineer said that he did not believe the village was at fault, contending that Rhein had a drainage problem before the sewer was installed.

It was said that Mr. Opitz questions the legality of the ordinance requiring householders bordering the sewer mains to make connections therewith.

Village Attorney Ronald Galowich was scheduled to draw the charges to be filed against the two men before Police Magistrate James Surovick. According to the attorney if the two men are found to be in violation of the ordinance they could be fined $10 a day for each day the connection is not made.

The board also directed Durward Fant, village treasurer and collector of water and sewer bills, was directed to file notices to lien against those who become delinquent in such accounts.

Sen. Dirksen Gives Talk To Mokena Group

Engineer Draws Specifications For Sidewalks

U.S. Senator Everett Dirksen appeared Monday morning in Mokena to give a short address to a group of residents assembled at St. Mary's social hall. Senator Dirksen's talk, originally slated for the Mokena community park, was moved indoors by cool, high winds which prevailed during the day. Approximately 70 people gathered at the hall to hear the senator.

Greeting Senator Dirksen as he arrived at St. Mary's hall were members of the Mokena grade school band which was excused from classes for the occasion.

The senator was sponsored at the appearance by the Republican Women's Club of Mokena and preceded a luncheon appearance at noon in Joliet.

Village Engineer Ralph Yunker is preparing specifications for the sidewalks to be constructed along Front street from Wolf road to Division street. The walks are to be built on both sides of the street except the south side between Wolf road and Mokena street, which is Rock Island property and used for parking.

An ordinance governing the building of sidewalks is to be enacted after it has been studied by the board of local improvements. Such a board was provided for last week when the trustees chose two of their members, Will Tuttle and Clarence Zugenbuehler to serve on same. The mayor, by virtue of his office, is automatically a member.

BAND UNIFORMS and equipment will be purchased at Lincoln-Way high school from receipts of candy sales during the bands annual sales campaign which opened last Friday. House-to-house drive will continue until Sept. 25 in New Lenox, Mokena, Frankfort and Manhattan. Distributing the packs of chocolate bars are, left to right, Carole Hammond, Buddy Erickson and Beverly Gildenzoph.

Conversation Piece Becomes Case In Court

"Fuzzy's Fabulous Hideaway," which has served as a conversation piece in the village for several weeks will be a prime topic tonight when Police Magistrate James Surovick holds court.

For all of its name, "Fuzzy's Fabulous Hideaway," is merely a cloak for the common place. The establishment, said to be owned by Warren and Wesley Nelson, is a rooming house.

The Nelsons have been charged with two violations, operating a business in a residential area without a variation of the zoning code and displaying a sign without a permit.

The Nelsons contend there are a number of signs displayed for which they doubt any permit was issued and indicated they will use every means to keep sign in place. It is over the front door of the house and quite easily read by passers-by.

TALL FISH STORY is backed up with evidence in the case of August F. Santoro, Frankfort, who landed a 17-pound northern pike from waters of the North Woods near the Canadian border. Santoro's wife, Arlene, gave the proud angler an assist with the landing net in bringing in the 40-inch long souvenir of northern Minnesota. Santoro reports the fish is presently in his home freezer where all skeptics may view it.

Withdrawal Of Signatures Voids School Petition

There will be no merger of the New Lenox and Marley grade school districts this year.

A petition asking that the Marley district, No. 125, be annexed to the New Lenox district, No. 122, has been dismissed by the Will county board of school trustees for lack of sufficient signatures.

Had the petition been granted the merger of the two districts would have gone into effect immediately since the petition was filed July 30. Had it been denied proponents of the annexation move would have been barred from filing another petition for at least a year. Since the petition was dismissed, however, a new one can be filed anytime.

Whether a new petition will be filed, and when, probably will depend on whether there is a change in sentiment among the residents of the Marley district and the feeling of the members of the New Lenox grade school board.

Several years ago the New

SEMMLER NEWSPAPERS

Lenox district was quite willing to annex the Marley district but at that time the Marley district preferred to go it alone and it did. The people approved a bond issue and a new school was built.

Recently a move developed to have the district annexed to New Lenox district. The New Lenox school board was not too happy about this. Nor were all the people in the Marley district pleased with the idea. The initial hearing was continued until last week when the petition was challenged on the grounds that no proof had been offered as to whether the number of signatures was actually two-thirds of the total number of legal voters.

Meanwhile, it was established there were 118 legal voters in the district and two-thirds of that number would be 79. The petition carried 80 signatures.

Last week William Penn, attorney for the New Lenox school board, pointed out that four of the signers were withdrawing their names from the petition. Alma Kohl, Alma Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stankus. This left the number of signers at 76, three less than the required number. Some of the proponents of the merger wanted the trustees to waive the two-thirds requirement but Assistant State Attorney Robert Higgins said the trustees had no choice but to follow the law, and that if the petition failed to meet the legal requirements it was invalid.

Marley school has 38 pupils and two teachers. The assessed valuation of the district is $1,002,524, it was revealed, and the bonded debt is $30,000. The school tax rate is $1.538. The New Lenox district has a valuation of $13,590,195, a bonded debt of $488,000 and a tax rate of $1.125.

Five trustees were present and all voted to dismiss the petition. One of the trustees, Robert Hohenstein, is from Mokena.

Following the board action proponents and opponents of the proposed annexation stayed on in the supervisors' rooms at the court house to discuss the issues. Some 30 persons attended the hearing.

Frankfort Builds Up Bond Retirement Fund

Village of Frankfort will have $50,000 built up in an "earnings" fund with which to begin redeeming bond certificates in 1963 toward its $460,000 water and sewer bond issue.

With the financial report submitted and approved last week at the regular board of trustees meeting, $32,000 has already been placed in the bond retirement fund. Under the plan adopted by the trustees, the fund will draw 4 per cent bank interest, enough to retire one bond certificate of $1,280 a year.

Fund is currently being built up because the village would be penalized if they redeemed the certificates before 1963. First payment on the 20-year bond issue, therefore, will not be made until next year.

In other board action, the trustees voted to transfer the fire trucks and equipment from village control to the Frankfort fire district.

Trustees, in hearing reports of the recent street improvement work, discussed at some length the problem of litter on the main streets, particularly in view of the numerous trash receptacles placed on the sidewalks for disposal purposes.

All future water users receiving service from the village will be assessed a $25 meter deposit according to a resolution drafted by the trustees. Previously, a distinction was made between those living within the village limits and those outside and between owners and non-owners.

Will Co. Republicans To Hold Picnic on Saturday

Talks by William (Bill) Scott and Ray Page, state candidates, will highlight the day's program. Scott is seeking the state treasurer's post and Page is the candidate for state superintendent of public instruction. Chairman Peterson will make the introductions.

Will Tuttle, head of the police committee, pointed out that crossing guards would relieve police of that duty and release Chief Bormet for other service. Tuttle suggested the hiring of a guard to protect the crossing to St. Mary's school as well as to Willow Crest school. Trustee Henry Shevlin suggested that perhaps a crossing guard would also be used in the operation of the sewage disposal plant. Such a move, he pointed out, would relieve Doc White of such work and give him more time for maintenance chores.

White, it was brought out at the meeting of the village board last week has a schedule which calls for flushing hydrants, painting at the sewage treatment plant, patching streets, installing street signs and other maintenance jobs plus a spot of police work.

Junior's Space-Age Frustration

Junior has had it! Frustrated to the point of early-teen gray hair and a premature hospital case of ulcers, Junior has had it!

All-mighty emphasis the last few years on the nation's leap into outer space is beginning to leave him cold. He is at the point of rebellion. Why?

To him and his contemporaries has fallen the fate of having to push our future space shots further and further into the heavens. Caught up in the hue and cry for more and better scientists, Junior and his chums are being carried along on the brink of a tide which is destined to plunge them thru the seas of mathematics, physics, chemistry, geo-physics, astronomy, radiology and whatever new scientific "ology" develops meantime.

Not that Junior is opposed to scientific progress! Only thing wrong, from his viewpoint, is that all youngsters are out from the same cloth with the same abilities and inclinations.

Yet parents caught up in the scientific race begin to peer with a critical eye toward Junior's ability and progress with such life or death subjects as mathematics.

Whether or not Junior goes on to college suddenly has become dependent on whether or not he makes the grades in the scientific courses. More and more, bigger and bigger scholarships are being offered to those demonstrating early talent in the physical sciences.

With increasing clamor from an increasingly frantic public caught up in the "space fad", Junior HAS to be a scientist...and a scientist of outstanding caliber to be able to "bring home the bacon" after reaching manhood. And, with all his fellow childhood playmates competing in the same game, Junior has quite a road to hack.

Pressures on youngsters are already being implemented. Many students are now being judged by whether they are sorted out and placed in "advanced" classes. Many of these "advanced" students find themselves hauling home voluminous quantities of homework in order to keep up with additional courses thrust upon them.

What some educators fear is that there appears to be no end to what the current space-race panic can push the youngsters to. They foresee an end, however, that may not be justified by the means.

Frustrations heaped upon a youngster not particularly inclined toward the scientific may force him to use any means at his disposal to stay in the top bracket of his class and thus retain the good graces of over-demanding parents and an overbearing public. Cheating is not discounted as one of the possible means brought on by the over-emphasis.

Not that we are against scientific education. We are. But let us bear with Junior and tone down the over-emphasis on what some experts term a "lagging scientific program".

The future demands that we have well-adjusted citizens who have not wasted valuable other talents, simply because they failed to fit the scientific mold.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

A few weeks ago--about 108 actually--we wrote Robert Mann, conservation editor of the Cook county forest preserve district to ask a question.

A printer, in the clear and concise language of the trade had come to us a few days earlier:

"Where in haitch," he asked, "are all those bats that I used to see flying and darting about under the street lights when I was a boy?"

And I said to him: "I don't know, I said, where in haitch all those bats are that you used to see darting hither and thither under the street lights when you were a boy, and now that you speak of it I too remember seeing a lot of bats flitting about in the evenings when I was a boy, altho that is a long time to remember anything."

We agreed that in all likelihood the bats we had seen could be presumed to be dead unless bats are like elephants or parrots when it comes to longevity. But we reasoned that even if the bats we saw had passed on they must have left a lot of descendants. What had become of these descendants? Where and how do they spend their evenings?

Could it be, we wondered, that they were victims of organized recreation? Could it be that unless someone outlined a program of play for them they simply clung to their perches and passed the time in complaining of their boredom?

It's an odd thing but when the bats used to flit about in early evening there were a lot of kids flitting about too, playing tag, hide-and-seek, duck-on-the-rock, shiny or run-sheep-run. Maybe the bats watch TV now too.

Well, after talking with my printer friend, I wrote Mr. Mann and put the question to him.

"Where in haitch are all the bats that one used to see flitting about?"

We also suggested that perhaps an article on bats might be appreciated by his readers.

Last week he came thru, and Nature Bulletin No. 686 from the Cook County Forest Preserve District was sent out.

A bat is one of the strangest of all animals, Mr. Mann says, and points out that like the opossum it is a survivor of prehistoric times and quite similar to ancestors found in fossils dating back at least 50 million years.

Thru the ages, he writes, a bewildering variety of bats has developed and now there are nearly 2,000 species.

Bats are the only mammals that can fly, the bulletin states. The so-called flying squirrel is actually only a glider but the bat is capable of sustained flight.

Bats probably would be rejected on an army examination because of poor eyesight but they have ears that would rate them at least a colonels commission in the signal corps or whatever department it is that had charge of radar and sonar.

According to Mr. Mann a bat's ears enables it to navigate, in total darkness, more accurately than man's aircraft and sea-craft equipped with the latest electronic devices.

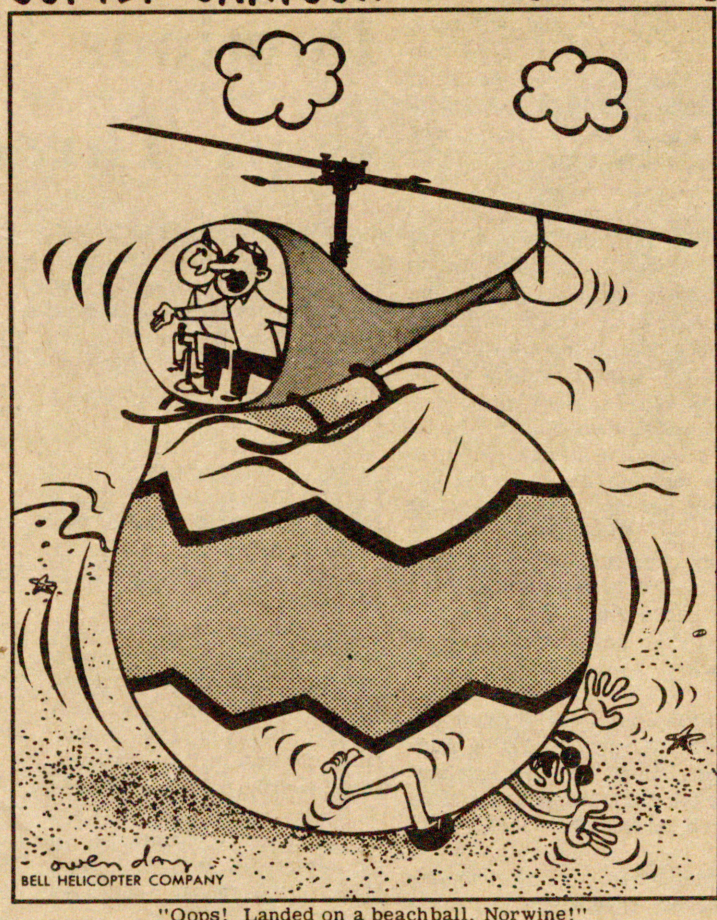

It is this unique sound equipment that enables the bat to bag his food at twilight or at night when flying insects are most plentiful, the bulletin points out. The bat emits ultrasonic beeps and "evaluates the echoes detected by its marvelously adapted ears."

Mr. Mann explains that apparently a bat recognizes an echo that bounces back from an insect, changes direction and captures its prey, and all within a split second.

Laboratory experiments show that when one ear is plugged a bat can avoid large obstacles but can't catch insects. Plug both ears and he no longer flits--he just flounders, with no sense of direction.

COPTER CARTOON

by owen day

ection. Taping his eyes shut makes no difference as long as his ears are in operation, scientists have demonstrated. Flying blind but with their ears open bats still catch insects and fly thru a maze of dangling threads without touching a thread.

Bats, Mr. Mann goes on to say, are distributed over most of the earth but most kinds inhabit the tropical or subtropical regions. There are 12 species listed for Illinois, including the Silver-haired bat. This last species is to be found from ocean to ocean and from Mexico to the north timber line in Canada.

There are two main groups, it is said, the fruit-eating bats and the insect eating bats. Among the fruit eaters are those called the flying fox, which may be 12 inches long and has a wing spread of five feet. This species thank goodness, is found only in the tropical areas in the South Pacific.

In the American tropics there are some bats that not only eat fruit but also small rodents, frogs and the like, including smaller bats; some like to dine of fish and then, of course, there is the one that is so essential to horror movies--the vampire, a sipper of blood.

Mr. Mann contents himself with stating that the vampire bat "lives on blood it secures from other animals." Whether there are any authenticated cases of a vampire attacking a human being -- other than in some monster picture -- is not known to this department, altho it is claimed that vampires have attacked infant humans; and there pleaded self defense.

The bats of the U.S., of A, are all insect eaters, Mr. Mann says, and are of two general types. In one they incline to an individualistic life, roost in trees and go south in the winter. Except for roosting in trees there are quite a few humans who live like that too. Then there are those--bats we are referring to now--that live in colonies and hibernate in caves or abandoned mines in winter and roost in caves, buildings or hollow trees the remainder of the year.

Mr. Mann also furnishes the information that Illinois bats mate in the fall but the young is not born until late spring or early summer. Usually a female has but one offspring altho in some species there may be two or more. The mother bat lugs them around until they get too heavy. Some of the young are able to fly when only three weeks old.

The bat, Mr. Mann points out, has a very high rating with scientists in search of better electronic devices. They hope to discover how a bat distinguishes between echoes from an insect and those from an obstacle.

Which is all very informative but Mr. Mann leaves unanswered the question we asked in the beginning: "Where in haitch are all those bats that one used to see flitting about around the corner street lights?"

It just may be that bats are too smart to get out in traffic.

The Russians are at their periodic military threats while grabbing off more of the world's populace to their hairy breasts. These periods of military threats, seem to always come after a period of comparative calm and when the western peoples and especially the United States, have listened to the siren song of those who would treat the Russians as ill mannered boys who will eventually return to polite society. However, this constant expansion and contraction of military and diplomatic positions, is very expensive and we are slowly but surely losing our position in the world.

To "divide and conquer" has been a strategy that has permitted weak positions to finally become the dominant position and this down thru history. To those not bent on deluding themselves, they can read analysis of our policies, if any, in European journals whose editors are the final product of a long line of men who are realists in the art of living in a hostile world. Russia took its worst beating when western Europe formed the Common Market and Communism is doomed as they cannot compete in making life a more pleasant place to live.

After a flurry of scares that we were to enter a new recession altho slight, our business community became convinced that economic conditions and for the nearby future, are far from pessimistic. Such situations as in the case of steel where labor and taxes have become so heavy, that the companies cannot show a profit, are not typical. The call of the sub-committee of the senate, for operating figures from the steel manufacturers, was more than a little surprising. Kefauver was insistent on receiving this information altho for what purpose, it is difficult to understand since mere figures themselves would reveal little, - that is unless the figures are in considerable detail and analyzed by men who know the industry, they would be of most vague use in a problem of legislation which might come before the senate unless a proposal for price-wage control is under consideration. Cynics are expressing themselves as of the opinion that Kefauver's play on to the drug industry simply ran out of steam and headline material and now he has an idea that the steel situation may gain him another round of headlines. Some of the political commentators point out the old adage that once a man has been bitten by the White House bug, he has acquired a disease from which he will never recover unless elected to the Presidency.

The situation in steel is a classical example of what happens when labor costs plus taxes simply squeeze all profit and incentive out of an industry. England has a number of classical examples of this. Coal and transport industries are now nationalized as a private investor will add no more to his investment and wants to salvage anything he can of a merchantable nature, from the wreck. Some now predict that steel industry will now go thru a period of fair business and small dividend return to the investor. This will result in little re-investment in plant and facilities and also in reduction of job opportunities for employees. Some pessimists see some form of public assistance to the steel industry as a likely eventuality even tho labor's demands and taxes, created the situation.

It is, however, noted that labor leaders now recognize the absolute need for a lowering of costs and permitting firms to earn a profit for the investor as without him there will be no plant.

Lincolnwood Scouts to Sell First Aid Supplies

Dolores Anderson
HU 5-3651
Starting Sept. 15, Boy Scout troop 41 of Lincolnwood will conduct a house-to-house "Be Prepared for Accidents" campaign in New Lenox.

Members of the group will visit every home in the community. They will present the homeowner with a first-aid chart showing approved procedures for dealing with various types of accidents, and will offer to assist the homeowner in checking his first-aid supplies to determine whether his home is adequately stocked for accident emergencies.

Where inadequacies are revealed, the members of the group will be able to offer a selection of first-aid kits so that the homeowner may choose the kit that best meets his needs.
Kits designed for use inside or outside the home will be available. Auto kits, travel kits and kits suitable for the hunter and fisherman will be included in the selection.

The first aid kits are supplied thru Lincoln-Way pharmacy. Profits realized on the sale of the kits will be used to meet the costs of a variety of activities of the Scouts.

Scoutmaster Edwin Johnson says, "We hope our campaign will alert our entire community to the importance of being prepared to give accident injuries prompt first aid."

The pipeline systems that keep on growing

Our natural gas system reaches into the heart of industrial America—the Midwest and East. Every year, these booming regions consume new record quantities of natural gas. To keep pace with these mounting demands, we will, by year's end, have increased the daily delivery capacity of our natural gas system by 225,000,000 cubic feet . . . enough to heat over a million new homes. This will bring the total daily delivery capacity of the system to 2.58 billion cubic feet, more than twice what it was ten years ago.
Also, we continue to expand our Little Big Inch System, which transports motor fuels, fuel oils and LPGases to the markets of the Midwest. The Little Big Inch is the nation's largest common carrier petroleum products pipeline.
In addition to pipelining natural gas and petroleum products, we are studying the fuller utilization of liquefied natural gas and gasified coal. Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Quality Is Our Speciality

Annual flowers often look better in the catalog than they do in the garden. Make note the varieties you grew this year, and indicate which ones did best. Notice the color combinations, the size and how well the different varieties fit with the surrounding plantings.

Are the shrubs and evergreens you planted last fall or spring growing nicely? They should be if they are not standing in water, or under the eaves where they get no water. If your new evergreens are turning brown and dying, dig down and see if they are standing in water. Our clay soils drain slowly. When planting new shrubs, the resultant hole often acts as a pot, becoming full of water which is unable to drain away. If this is the case, it is necessary to provide tile, gravel, wells or some other type of artificial drainage.

While inspecting your yard notice plants which are old, diseased, badly damaged or which have outgrown their situation. Try to figure out why the plant has become undesirable and replace it with a plant which better fills the needs.

Fertilize your lawn with a nitrogen carrying fertilizer such as 10-6-4, 10-10-10 or even ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate. Apply so that every 1000 square feet receives one and one-half pounds of actual nitrogen, (15 lbs. 10-10-10 or 10-8-6, 7-1/2 lbs. ammonium nitrate, etc). If it does not rain within 24 hours, be sure to wash the fertilizer off the leaves by sprinkling.

The amount of money spent on lawns each year is staggering. In the Midwest alone here is probably more than a billion dollar investment in lawns and a likely 300-500 million.

The Upper Room

Let every man take heed how he buildeth, (1 Corinthians 3:10.)

The gray-haired Papuan preacher had read for the first time the story "The Three Little Pigs." The next day his congregation heard something of the story.

He told of the pigs which built their houses of different materials. One carelessly threw together a house of straw. Another put forth enough effort to make his house of wood. The third pig chose durable brick and carefully built his house.

Then he told of the evil one—the wolf who came seeking to destroy and devour. Only the third house, built carefully of well-chosen materials, withstood all the attempts of the wolf to destroy it.

Home the preacher drove his points! How many of the congregation were like the first pig—too lazy or too indifferent to seek the best things, and contented with what was available without effort? How many were like the second—willing to give a little more time and thought to the materials they used, but not careful enough in their selections? How many were like the third—prepared to seek and to use only the best, the best as found in Jesus Christ!

PRAYER: Help us, O God, to build nothing into the house of our lives but those things which partake of Thine own enduring qualities. Direct our lives and our labors; Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT - Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kimmel, RR2, Milford, formerly of Tinley Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Ann, to Gerard Bohlmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bohlmann RR3, Milford, Miss Kimmel is a 1960 graduate of Carl Sandburg High school and is presently employed at Crystal Food Products, Watseka. Bohlmann is a 1959 graduate of Milford Township High school and is now attending Concordia Teachers College, River Forest. No date has been set for the wedding.

Polio Information Sought In Survey

Special questions on polio shots and also on injections for protection against several other diseases will be asked in the September current population survey conducted by the bureau of the census.

Immunization questions are being asked at the request of the U.S. Public Health Service to obtain information for use in planning nationwide health protection programs.

Polio protection questions will be asked of persons under 50 years of age while questions on diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus protection will cover children 14 years of age or younger.

Polio questions will include the number of polio shots or injections (Salk vaccine) received, the number of doses of vaccine taken by mouth (Sabin oral vaccine) and the month of the most recent oral dose. For children 14 years and under, the questions will cover the number of shots or injections they have had in immunize them against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
COOK COUNTY FARM ADVISER
TINLEY PARK - 532-4369

The Agricultural Extension Council is an organization which serves citizens through extension programs in Cook county. Council members are appointed by the Dean of Agriculture at the University of Illinois.

Chairmen of all Extension Councils met in Urbana last week to discuss mutual problems and set goals for increasing the effectiveness of extension programs in the counties of Illinois. Mr. George DeVries, Evergreen Park, council chairman and I, attended this event on the campus of the University of Illinois.

The oat variety demonstration plot on the Lester Sayer's farm, Orland Park, was quite successful. Our thanks to Mr. Sayers and Lloyd Brandau for their assistance in conducting this demonstration. High performing varieties in this demonstration plot were:

Oat Variety	Bu. per Acre.
Beebee	121.23
Dodge	119.91
Newton	114.24
Shield	113.12
Goodfield	108.87

I would also like to express thanks to Herb Kohl, Matteson, for helping with the weed control demonstration plots in corn and soybeans. Five different chemicals were used, in both granular and liquid form. These chemicals are readily available and more information about any one of them may be obtained by contacting this office. I might add, that the effectiveness of all chemicals was reduced due to the extremely dry weather following their application. It takes rain to make herbicides work.

Demonstration plots for disease control in onions were conducted on the Ralph Vander Zee farm and C. J. Rietveld farm, South Holland. Yield data is now being taken and the effectiveness of the various fungicides will then be evaluated.

The demonstration plots mentioned above are a part of the program in the Extension Service. Demonstrations have long been one of the effective and well accepted methods of telling farmers and others about new farm practices. Evening meetings, open to public, were conducted at the sight of these plots to allow farmers to view the plots, hear them discussed, and ask questions.

Another demonstration involves the evaluation of a beef production herd. This is conducted through a program called "Performance Testing." Offspring from the cow herd are weighed and graded at five months of age. They are then fed a good growing ration for five months and re-weighed. Through this process, cows and sires can be evaluated on the basis of performance of their offspring. This is just another one of the sound farm management practices which the Extension Service urges farmers to adopt. Our cooperators in this project is Norman Strassenburg, Mokena.

HOMER NEWS

BY ELIZABETH ANDERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley and grandchildren, Susan, Charles and William Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shepherd Sr., Frank Kolar and the Alan Shepherds were among those who attended the Old Thresherman's meeting at Pontiac during last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Shepherd also went to the Mazon Fair on Sunday.

Charles R. Adelman has applied for a B-1C zoning at the corner of Bell Rd. and Rte. 7, where he intends to open a service station.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Ott, 159th and Gougar Rd., entertained at dinner Wednesday evening in honor of their son William's birthday. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Boyd and children of Rte. 7, and Mrs. Caroline Ott of Lockport. On Sunday, Bill will go to Urbana where he will attend the University of Illinois.

The committee chairmen for the Fall Festival at Homer church met Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Earl Burnworth. There will be 300 tickets on sale for the roast-beef supper which will be in three servings, beginning at 5:30, the second at 6:15 and the last at 7:15 p.m. on Thursday evening, Oct. 11.

There will be fancy work for sale in the church parlor and a fish pond and miscellaneous booths at the schoolhouse. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Otto Moravec, Mrs. Russell Schaecke, Bruce Anderson, Mrs. Merritt J. Cagwin, Robert Burch, G.C. Frazer, Mrs. John Hollister, Mrs. George Burcham or Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson.

If anyone wishes to come for carryouts, the best time will be between 5 and 5:30, or after the last serving.

The King's Daughters Circle of Homer was very pleasantly entertained in the home of Mrs. Clara Kettering in Lockport Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Caroline Ott and Mrs. Lola Storm assisted Mrs. Kettering with the serving of the desert-coffee. Routine reports by secretary and treasurer were given; the State Convention to be held at Moline Oct. 17 and 18 was announced and discussed; also plans for the Bridal Revue to be sponsored by the Circle were talked over, and the tentative date set for Nov. 16. Mrs. Robert Shepherd, Mrs. Jerome Paddock and Mrs. L.E. Storm are the committee in charge. Hostesses for next month will be Mrs. Reed Burch and Mrs. Ira Anderson.

The Good Luck Camp of Royal Neighbors will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 20, in the home of Mrs. Abbie Timm at 558 E. Fourth St., Lockport. Assisting Mrs. Timm as hostesses will be the Mesdames Marion Homering, Francis Kolar and Theresa Hemphill.

Mr. and Mrs. John White and daughter, Laurie, and Miss Faye Rodgers left Thursday for a vacation trip to the Ozarks. The Ray Carlsons had as weekend guests, two young men from India who are attending school in Chicago. They are Dr. A. Suresh and Mr. Satinder Kshetral. On Sunday they also had Mr. Richard Ploen of Joliet, associate minister of First Presbyterian Church, as a dinner guest.

Among the Homer people who are attending Joliet Junior College are John Filipowicz, Dan LeGrand and George Anderson. Bonnie Mlynarik and Betty Anderson left for DeKalb on Monday of this week.

Dinner guests in the George Burcham home last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Langmeyer and family of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bethell and children of Joliet. James McNamara of Chicago recently obtained a permit for a five-room frame house to be built on the west side of Dixon Lane south of 143rd St.

Stanley Ladrick, aged 53, late of Dixon Lane near 143rd St., died Friday, Sept. 7, following a lengthy illness. Funeral services were to be in Chicago but the arrangements were not complete at this writing.

The Ladrick family have lived in this neighborhood for several years. Mr. Ladrick was employed at the Material Service Co. in Lockport, but had not been able to work for some time.

He is survived by his wife, Frances; a daughter, Phyllis, who is married and lives in Wisconsin; two sons, Ray of Joliet and Mike at home, and three grandchildren.

Michael Ladrick and Miss Marjorie Glasser of Lockport were married on Saturday at a very quiet ceremony, with all festivities omitted because of his father's recent death. Several relatives who came from Wisconsin to attend the wedding, remained for the funeral. Mike attended Reed school and Lockport High. His bride, also an L.T.H.S. girl, is a trained nurse.

Small School Association Champions Local Control

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, state librarian, today reminded all public librarians and trustees in towns of no more than 25,000 population that less than three weeks remain for them to make application for the Book-of-the-Month club annual cash awards.

Final date to make application to the Illinois State Library is Sept. 20. Application forms, as well as instruction, are available from the State Library in Springfield, Secretary Carpentier said.

The Book-of-the-Month club annual cash awards for the purchase of books to small libraries in the United States consist of a main award of $5,000 and nine additional honorable mention awards of $1,500. Winners in each of the remaining 40 states will receive awards of $1,000, bringing the total value of the awards to $58,000.

The procedure to be followed in Illinois is that the state selection committee, consisting of three members of the Illinois Library Association and three members of the staff of the Illinois State Library, will endorse two applications from libraries in the state and submit them to the Book-of-the-Month club with the understanding that one of the two will receive an award of at least $1,000 Mr. Carpentier said.

A committee representing the Public Library Association, a division of the American Library Association, will select the award winner from each

Tax Deduction Declares War Tip: Junior Can on One-Light Earn Over $600 Car Owners

(CNS) If Junior has earned more than $600 this year, don't worry, you can probably still claim him as a dependant, says Harold R. All, director of internal revenue for the Chicago district.

"We have reports," All said, "that parents are telling working children to quit their jobs before earning $600; otherwise they cannot retain the children's dependency exemption."

"It is not necessary for children to stop working this summer upon earning a total of $600."

A concentrated drive against motorists displaying only one license plate on their vehicles was started today, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier has announced.

Automobile investigators from Carpentier's office and state police will issue warning notices for the first two weeks, bringing to motorists' attention the requirements of the law and advising them how to replace stolen, lost or damaged plates.

Beginning Monday, arrests will be made for failure to display two plates, Carpentier declared.

state. From these 50 state winners, assuming that every state participates, they will specify the 10 they consider the most outstanding. The Book-of-the-Month club will then choose from these 10 the main award winner, the nine designated for honorable mention and the 40 remaining state winners.

Prior to this year the Club's grants in this field consisted of a main award of $5,000 and nine additional awards of $1,000 each, ten awards which were competed for by all the small libraries of the nation. Under the newly extended plan, the club will award at least $1,000 to one small public library in every state of the Union, for a total of 50 individual awards. All awards will be given during National Library Week in 1963.

Clothes come out fresh and sweet-smelling...all for a penny a load.

Saves so much work. No more back-breaking lifting and lugging wet laundry out to the yard. No more running madly to take in the wash when it rains. No more wash-days postponed on account of bad weather.

Some even have a control to stop drying action automatically when clothes reach proper degree of dryness. Pick the model you want, and try it for 60 days—with no obligation. Expect FAI-80 Will
Be Finished In Area By 1968

State and federal highway engineers in charge of plans for FAI-80 are quoted as saying that the 2,943 miles of the route from New York to San Francisco should be completed by 1972.

It has been in the making now for several years and some fear that by the time the last link is finished the first stretch built will be worn out.

The high level bridge at Joliet will delay completion of the Illinois portion of the project, it was said until 1968.

The route is now in use between U. S. 66 or FAI-55 and Ottawa. The timetable given by engineers shows that the 4.9 miles between U. S. 66 and Wheeler avenue on Joliet's west side should be ready in 1964 and will cost $9,959,000. The

1.1 mile section from Wheeler to the DesPlaines river is slated to cost $5,985,000 and should be ready by 1965—maybe the high level bridge over the river in Joliet which is four tenths of a mile long will be finished by then too, it was said. The cost of this bridge is placed at $4,668,000.

East of the bridge to Richards street, 1.3 miles, will cost $9,653,000 and may be ready by 1965. Then comes a 4.3

mile stretch from Richards street to U. S. 30 near Gougar road costing $5,667,000 that may be ready by 1966. The next 6.1 miles reaching to 183rd and Wolf road is expected to cost $4,318,000 and may be finished in 1967. Then comes 5.9
miles from Wolf road to Oak Park ave, near Tinley Park, costing $6,090,000.

It is thus estimated that to build 31 miles of FAI-80 between U. S. 66 west of Joliet and to the tollway at East Hazel Crest will cost $54,340,000, the bulk of which will be made up of taxes paid to the federal government.

It is part of the plan for the FAI-80 freeway to become a tollway for five miles in South Cook county where it will use a piece of the Tri-State tollway to reach the Kindery expressway leading into Indiana's Tri-State expressway.

FAI-80 will have controlled access and motorists will not be bothered by cross traffic or cars entering the highway from gas stations or roadside stands

Work is also going forward

at the west end of the Illinois portion of FAI-80 and within a few years — say six — it should give Chicago a direct line to the Mississippi river at Rock Island.

Plans call for an interchange where FAI-80 crosses U. S. 45 east and north of Mokena and there was talk earlier that there would be access to the route near Gougar road but whether this is still in the plan is not certain. Some claim there will be no interchange between New Lenox and Joliet. An interchange is also planned to serve

Tinley Park.
FAI-80 will not serve local traffic but it would give industry located in the area and inlet and outlet for short (like to Chicago) and long hauls, it was pointed out.

In homes with Flameless Electric Heat
you almost have to hunt for dust

When you move into an electrically heated home you can practically forget about dirt. Electric heat is as clean as the electric light you read by.

There's no flame or fuel to make dirt, soot, or grime. And electric heat is such gentle heat it doesn't even stir up dust. In fact, in an electrically heated home you often have to look for dust.

EVERYTHING STAYS CLEAN LONGER

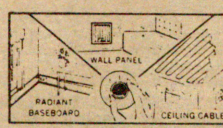

Your curtains and draperies stay fresh and nice for so long you'll have a time remembering when you put them up. Upholstery stays lots nicer, too. Electric heat is so clean you spend far less time housekeeping.
That leaves you more time for activities you enjoy.

Living in an electrically heated home has other advantages, too, such as room-by-room heat control and fresher feeling heat that uses up none of the moisture or oxygen in the air. Even your skin feels more comfortable.

ELECTRIC HEATING NOW COSTS LESS THAN EVER

The recent rate reduction—on Electric Heating—applies to the three basic systems illustrated below.
So, if you're looking for a new home . . . plan to build one . . . or want to modernize the heating in the home
you own, call your nearest Public Service Company office for complete facts on the Electric Heating system that's best for you.

3 BASIC TYPES OF FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEATING TO SOLVE EVERY HEATING PROBLEM

Radiant Electric Heating—offers room-by-room control.
Ideal in homes or apartments.
Just set the dial and you control the heat. Heating units circulate and radiate gentle waves of warmth throughout each room.

Central Electric Heating—new kind of furnace for new or older homes.
Works with your present
duct system. Circulates electrically heated air. Air conditioning may be added at any time.

Electric Heat Pump—
gives you perfect year-round climate automatically. Amazing unit switches to heating or air conditioning by itself.
Maintains ideal temperature and humidity with one setting.

IGA'S SURE CURE FOR STAMP SAVERS BLUES . . .

CASH SAVINGS

"FOR MUSIC TO BRIGHTEN YOUR DAY . . .
LISTEN TO IGA ON WFMQ . . . 107.5 ON

SYMPTOMS—Stamp lickers lockjaw is preceded by a blurring of the speech as the patient's glue coated tongue begins sticking to the roof of the mouth. If enough stamps are licked at one time, the lick's tongue not only sticks to the roof of her mouth but her teeth are glued together and her face becomes very puckered up and puzzled looking.

CAUSE—Stamp lickers lockjaw is caused by licking stamps so that they can be placed in stamp books.

REMEDY—The patient must be kept away from all types of stamps with the exception of the kind used by the U.S. Government. She should shop at IGA where she is not charged extra for trading stamps.
